Fr. Albanus' Reflections on the Sunday Liturgy
Christ The King

It was Pope Pius XI who brought the Feast of Christ the King into the liturgy in 1925 in order to bring Christ, his rule and Christian values back into lives of Christians, into society and into politics. We learned in history the story of the rise and fall of royalties and kings. Although emperors and kings now exist mostly in history books, we still honor Christ as the King of the Universe by enthroning Him in our hearts and allowing Him to take control of our lives. This feast challenges us to see Christ the King in everyone, especially those whom our society considers the least important, and to treat each person with love, mercy and compassion as Jesus did.

The first reading recalls the story of the anointing of David as the king of Israel. St. Paul in the letter to the Thessalonians states that, as the Image of the invisible God, Christ the King is preeminent to the prominent groups of angels like "thrones, dominions, principalities or powers." The messianic prophecies of the Old Testament point to Jesus as the King. Jesus is born in "the town of David called Bethlehem."; he is of the royal lineage. The Lord God will make him a King, as his ancestor David was, and he will be the King of the descendants of Jacob forever and His Kingdom will never end."(Lk:1,32-33). But Jesus kingship is something of a difference. This is clearly shown in the today Gospel.

At the beginning of his public life, Jesus is tempted in the desert. For one, he is tempted to exercise power and authority over the kingdoms of this world. But his kingdom is not of this world. His authority lies in powerlessness and service. Thus, he detests the kind of authority that refuses to busy itself in lightening the heavy burdens that people carry. Such an authority that will not lift a finger to help is in opposition to the values of Jesus. Jesus' authority came from his Father. His is the kingdom that looked out for people who are ignored, the poor and the wounded. It is not surprising that Jesus should end up being flanked by two criminals on the cross as today's Gospel shows. Such are the kind that he sought out in his ministry. He came to seek out the lost and he shared his forgiveness. He prayed for people's forgiveness even as he was about to give up the ghost. Jesus as king wears the crown of thorns and has the throne of the cross. This is Jesus' kind of royalty: one where the king identifies with the 'low' of the society. This is Christ the King and we are called to live the values of this kingdom.

Brothers and sisters, since Christ was a serving King we are invited to be His loyal citizens by rendering humble service to others and by sharing Christ's mercy and forgiveness with others. As we celebrate this feast, we are invited to use all power or authority in the public or the private realms for Jesus by bearing witness to Him by the way we live. We accept Jesus as our King of love when we love others as Jesus loved, unconditionally, sacrificially and with agape love.
